Motor Engines

FOR THE INTERCOLONIAL

Will Be Put On At Once To Handle Suburban Traffic from Cities

(Bulletin Special)
Ottawa, Oct. 22.—The intention is to have three big motor cars running on the Intercolonial next spring. These will be increased to ten as fast as they can be built. The motor car problem has been dealt with by the Great Western Railway of England. That road handles an immense passenger business for short distances with a system which will likely be adopted on the Intercolonial. The first service inaugurated by the Intercolonial will be at St. John, Moncton and Halifax to handle suburban passenger trains. Services will afterwards be extended to the branch lines. The motors and cars will be built in Canada.

ELEVATOR COLLAPSED

(Bulletin Special)
Virden, Oct. 22.—The Virden farmers' elevator collapsed here yesterday. Simpson Bros., who were operating it, had 30,000 bushels of wheat, a great part of which is spilled on the track. The C. P. R. furnished fifteen cars and men are now busy loading the grain. The building will be almost a total loss.

NO "UNION" FOR BRANDON
(Bulletin Special)
Brandon, Oct. 22.—J. Hill of the G. N. Railway, has refused the C. P. R. proposition for the union depot here. He owns the land for a separate right of way into town and separate depot and terminals.

Barber Asphalt Co. Wants Contract

J. C. Castle, of Toronto, who was registered at the Alberta hotel yesterday, is agent for Canada for the Barber Asphalt Co. of New York, and visited the city for the purpose of placing before the council proposals to pave the principal streets of Edmonton.

He called on the commissioners yesterday and laid before them in an informal manner a series of propositions.

Mr. Castle states that his company is willing to take the entire contract or any part of it for the paving. The Barber company does not do paving itself but has allied with it a number of construction companies to one of which it would turn over the work, the Barber company guaranteeing everything with a bond for a period of ten years.

Four Rescued

FROM A FLIMSY RAFT

Survivors From A Houseboat Wrecked Off Florida Coast Last Week

(Bulletin Special)
Mobile, Ala., Oct. 22.—The Mallory Line steamer Colorado, which arrived today had as passengers Jos. Nelson, Chas. Olson, Chas. Anderson and Otto Erink, who were picked up on Saturday morning ninety miles off Key West. Nelson says he saw seventy men drowned from a house boat which was wrecked off Long Key, Ala., in last week's storm. The four men, when found by the Colorado crew were standing on a raft made out of six logs and were in the water waist deep.

ACCIDENT AT NAMAYO.

Namayo, Oct. 22.—Mr. Gill, a young man in the employ of W. J. Craig, of Namayo, met with an accident today. He had a team and wagon with a disc harrow attached behind at Mr. Johnston's store, when the team ran away. In trying to stop the team he fell and the harrow went over his leg, cutting it in two or three places. One of the horses, in running down the big hill, fell and was so entangled in the harrow that it could not rise.

Wintry Storms

SWEEP WESTERN STATES

Passenger Coaches Blown From The Track. Foot Of Snow In Wyoming

(Bulletin Special)
Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 22.—The storm which began in Wyoming last Friday and which spread generally over the state Saturday continues today. About a foot of snow has fallen and all the trains are stalled.

(Bulletin Special)
Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 22.—The storm continues in this state today and all the trains are delayed. All the telegraph poles in the vicinity of Ogden have been blown down. Two passenger coaches were blown from the track near Centerville and several people injured.

Easy Grades

FOR THE G.T.P. WESTWARD

Grand Trunk Pacific Will Not Exceed One Per Cent. And That For Only A Very Few Miles

"There is no doubt in my mind," said a man who returned from the Yellowhead a few days ago, "that the Grand Trunk Pacific has the best railway pass in the mountains. I have crossed the mountains on every track between here and Mexico, and I say positively that nothing like as favorable a pass has yet been found anywhere else. The Yellowhead is like a park drive compared to the most of them and there is no more climbing than plenty of roads have to do right out on the prairie. In fact I know for an absolute certainty that nowhere between Edmonton and Fort George will the grade exceed one per cent. and that for very short distances only. There is one stretch on this side of Tete Juan Cache where for eighteen miles a one per cent grade will be necessary. There is also another piece of two or three miles just on the other side of the divide, between that and Bear Lake, or Yellowhead Lake, as it is now officially known, where it goes the merest fraction over one per cent. Climbing up to the pass from this side it is a snap. The heaviest grade anywhere is along the Miette, towards its headwaters, where for a piece the grade will go eighty-five one-hundredths of one per cent., but in mountain railroading these gradients are so low as to be unrepresented."

"There is no doubt in my mind," continued the informant, "that the G. T. P. surveys will be pretty well completed before the gangs come in this fall. On this side, and over as far as Tete Juan Cache the surveys are well along; in fact most of them will be about wound up now. On the other side, however, below Tete Juan, there is considerable to be done yet. The surveys over there had a pretty bad time. The Rolston party, which was made up in Victoria and came in via Kamloops, took forty-seven days to connect with the commissary department from this end and the boys came within an odd shoe or two of starving to death. The Rolston party was supposed to do the work between the end of the Featherstonhaugh division at Tete Juan and the Little Smoky. Another outfit which came in from the coast via Kamloops was to do the Little Smoky-Fort George section, but when they reached the scene of operations at the Little Smoky they found that the cache in which their grub was stored had been destroyed by forest fires and they had to get out as quickly as they knew how. The surveys who led the party were pretty hostile, because he calculated that the company should have left men to guard the cache, and he disbanded his party and quit the company. This left the Rolston party the one working between Tete Juan Cache and the junction of the Nichessa and Fraser at Fort George, and they are doing everything that human endurance can accomplish to get the gap closed up before the winter sets in."

"Beyond Fort George the string of survey camps is complete right through to the Pacific coast. There is a low divide to cross from the Nichessa to the Bulkley, but the pass which has been known to the traders and prospectors for years presents no engineering difficulties to speak of."

Gun Powder Exploded and Sheet Of Flame Swept Down The Shaft

(Bulletin Special)
Pittsburg, Kansas, Oct. 22.—Three Austrian miners were burned to death and a fourth probably fatally injured today by the explosion of a quantity of gun powder in a mine at Mineral near this city. H. V. SHAW, Proprietor of the Edmonton Cigar Factory.

Mr. Shaw was born at Long Prairie, Minnesota, U.S.A., on Sept. 6th, 1876, and received his education at the public schools. On its completion, he was apprenticed to the cigar manufacturing business, which occupation he has followed all his life. In 1901 he came to Canada, locating at Edmonton, and started business for himself. His first establishment was very unpretentious, but the business rapidly commenced to assume large proportions, with the result that he now operates the largest cigar factory west of Toronto. His premises, situated on Second street, are splendidly equipped. In the course of his inspection of Mr. Shaw's factory, Mr. John K. Barrett, Dominion warehouse inspector, said: "You have the cleanest and most up to date factory in Canada," which remark speaks for itself.

Mr. Shaw's leading line is the La Palma cigar, of which large quantities are consumed throughout the province. He was promoted to Sergt. Major last summer and his commission reached him after his death. The "Adventure" took ten days between Fullerton and Newfoundland 222 miles.

METHODS OF ONTARIO BANK

Desperate Measures Adopted To Preserve The Standing With The Public

(Bulletin Special)
Toronto, Oct. 22.—The investigation of the books of the Ontario Bank, which is being proceeded with here, has led to some rather startling disclosures in the manner in which the affairs of the bank were carried on. Alleged assets of nearly a million were carried on the books that really did not exist at all, giving the impression that the institution had a much stronger position than it really had. To protect the price of the bank's shares in the open market the concern at different times purchased its own shares to the value of $230,000. This will reduce the security to the creditors in case of double liability to the shareholders. There is a sum of slightly over half a million to be divided to cover a loss of twelve million of paper in the bank.

Arrested For Shooting and the Wounded Man is Reported to Have Since Died

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—Jules Higelin, aged about forty, of Bryson, Quebec, is a prisoner in the local jail on a charge which may amount to murder. He is alleged to have shot Jules Ghanulieres at Laverlochier, ten miles from Ville Marie last week. Ghanulieres is reported to have died since Higelin's arrest and an officer has gone to Ville Marie to investigate.

HELD CROWD AT BAY

While Companions Blew Open Bank Safe And Secured The Money

(Bulletin Special)
Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 22.—Masked bandits held a crowd of excited citizens at bay for three hours last night at Sawyer, N.D., while companions blew a safe in the Sawyer State bank and took away $4,500. Over three hundred shots were fired. The robbers escaped on horseback.

GOT THE WRONG MAN.

(Bulletin Special)
Toronto, Oct. 22.—The crown prosecutor was evidently disappointed and annoyed by developments in the London bribery case this morning. A witness named John O'Meara, now of Winnipeg, who had been arrested in London Saturday on a bench warrant and kept in custody since as a material witness, turned out to be the wrong man. He made a vigorous protest against the ill-treatment which as an innocent man he had been subjected to and counsel for the crown, after being convinced that they had the wrong man, offered him a letter of apology. The offer was not, however, accepted, and something further may be heard of the matter. Several witnesses who swore to having received money in connection with the election testified that they were Liberals and intended voting for Hyman before receiving the money. Thomas F. Lewis, a London hotel-keeper, was arraigned before Magistrate Kingsford for his preliminary hearing on a charge of perjury this afternoon. He was committed for trial, bail being refused.

ALDERMAN GOT HUFFY.

(Bulletin Special)
Montreal, Oct. 22.—Ald. M. Martin resigned in a dramatic manner during a meeting of city council today because a motion of his to increase the pay of corporation laborers was not carried through in a hurry. He lost patience, put on his overcoat and hat and hastily left the room.

BASEBALL

"Deacon" White returned today from a campaign in the south of the province and reports that the baseball outlook for 1907 is very rosy. All the towns wanted, he says, have now come in except Moose Jaw, and the board of trade of that enterprising town is taking the matter up and intends to arrange for a team for next year. He was surprised to find that Regina claims among many of its most prominent citizens at least two old National League players and they have taken the ball business in hand and positively assured a team for next year. Lethbridge was also astonishingly ready and in fact the baseball enthusiasts in the whole south country are talking about the league next year. The athletic association in Lethbridge has secured grounds which are handy to the city and are considered to be about the finest in the west. The stockholders have already doubled their money on the enhancement in the value of the grounds. The baseball business will probably be taken up by this association and they have plenty of money to place a first class team in the field, as the company has an authorized capitalization of $50,000, of which $3,000 was sold to pay for the grounds. Medicine Hat and Calgary are both well fixed for grounds, and Edmonton is now the only city in which the acquisition of a diamond is a question. White advises that a big meeting be called in Edmonton at once and action be taken to secure grounds, not only for next year, but for all time. He predicts that the league will pay handsomely here next year and that with the crowds who patronize baseball in Alberta it is only a matter of holding rigidly to the salary limit to guarantee a profit in every town in the league.

The next meeting for final and official organization of the league will be held in Lethbridge on November 5th, when the schedule will be framed up and application made for international protection.

"Little we ask our wants are few. We only wish for a creamery (government or private), a bank, a stopping house, a livery and feed stable, a laundry, a barber shop, and a surveyed townsite. If Heaven more generous gifts deny, we shall not miss them much."

A splendid sample of coal was picked up on the Palmer estate recently purchased by Mr. Logan. Hard coal was found within two and a half feet of the surface.

Mr. Ingram's coal mine and yards presents a scene of unparalleled activity. A full staff of men are on duty and even then the supply can not keep pace with the demand. Messrs. Morton and Watson of Vegreville paid a flying visit to our burg. Sheriff Robertson of Edmonton and Daniel Grummett of Cooking Lake spent Sunday and Monday in our burg, looking up a representative for the Canadian Life Assurance Loan Department. Mr. Swift received the appointment.

AT ALL DEALERS.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Toronto Star: "I don't want to drag anyone else into this," said Mr. Chas. McGill, late of the Ontario Bank, to the Star today. "I am under, and I assume responsibility, but I want to say that the directors for the first five years would or could give me no help, that they almost avoided me, in fact. That's the only accusation I wish to make. Of late I have not gone to the directors. What was the use? The impression appears to be that the Ontario Bank was solvent when I assumed the management eleven years ago. It wasn't. Its condition was desperate. I could have obtained outside aid, but the directors would not hear of it, so I had recourse to American securities. I made at first and then lost. It has been said that all the losses occurred in the last year or so. Such a statement is not a fact."

"I have declined to give a statement up to the present," he began, "because I wanted the absorption effected first."

"It is alleged, Mr. McGill, that you have been submitting false returns to the directors for several years, to cover up your speculations in this connection. It is added that the statement presented at the last annual meeting was prepared in such a way as to deceive not only the directors, but the auditors?"

Mr. McGill made no reply for a moment. Then he said: "I have nothing to say as to that. The books are being examined. The result of that examination will be known."

"What do you say to the allegation that the directors have known nothing of your investments or speculations?"

"If they have not known, they ought to have known."

There was a pause. Mr. McGill was asked to begin at the beginning.

"When I took hold," he said, "the Ontario Bank was in a bad way. What had happened was threatened then. If anything, the situation was worse, as now the depositors will lose nothing. There were a few good accounts, but many were worthless. Certain accounts, of little value at the time, might improve. I saw that, but I did not foresee that such good times were coming. Had I been gifted with second sight, what did happen might not have happened. I expected things to improve, but I did not expect such progress as the country subsequently experienced. Had I done so, I might have been able to manage differently. What I did see was depressing in the extreme. The Ontario Bank stock was scarcely saleable, if at all."

"I determined to save the bank if I could. I got no help from my directors. I told them that something would have to be done. I struggled on for two or three years. Things were no better, and then I had recourse to stocks. I believed that American securities were bound to improve, so I bought and sold. I did pretty well at first, and my judgment was not greatly at fault. Stocks that were forty then are now one hundred and fifty, but I couldn't hold. I had to go on selling and buying."

"I said that the Ontario Bank's assets were good; not because they were good, but because I did not want the institution to tumble. I watched and nursed Ontario bank stock daily, few buying, now selling. I was building the bank outside, increasing and improving the branches. Well, the good times had not arrived. A lumber company failed. The company's account with us exceeded $500,000. Another firm went under and we got practically nothing of the $100,000 that we had advanced. Prospects looked blue. Still, I hoped that by quietly nursing our accounts until they should return to pay or near, and some did, and by investing in good American securities, I might win out after all. Times did improve, but a fifty thousand dollar loan on our books when I began had grown. Firms wanted more money. Industrial expansion had commenced and we had increased the loans. Besides, as I have pointed out, I had been building up the branches."

"As I have told you, my stock investments yielded returns for a while. Then came reverses."

"Margins, I suppose?"

"Yes, but it is not true that I lost anything like a million last year. The examination now going on will show that."

"Any of the present directors on the board when you became manager?"

"Yes; three, I think."

"They ought to have known about your speculations?"

"Now, I have stood alone. I stand alone now. I am not trying to shift the blame. It is true, however, that the Ontario Bank was certainly not solvent. Men in business eleven years ago will tell you that those days were dark."

"If I have told you that it was solvent eleven years ago, I spoke" carcatically. The director did not help me. Something had to be done. I did what I thought was best, both for directors and depositors. If I have failed in my attempt, I must take the blame, I suppose, though it has been a one-man fight."

Mr. McGill used no names in his story except when asked as to the personnel of the board when he was appointed manager. He made no charges. At all events, he desired to make none.

"Be sure that I have not charged anyone with anything," he said, almost feverishly, "unless it be the early directors with negligence. That's all I wish to say about them. They did not help me. They did not share my burden. But do not report me as charging them with anything."

Mr. McGill seemed to live the troubled times over again. He spoke of the day of business depression, and one might almost imagine that he was revolving in his mind the question of ways and means. When brought back to the present he sighed.

"Unless you were in the fight yourself," he said, "you cannot understand how scarce money was. Why, there's a million now for every hundred thousand then."

By way of summary, Mr. McGill said: "When I became manager, very little could be realized. Nearly everything good had gone to other banks. I was urged to try to pull the bank through. I hesitated at first, but finally thought that with time and help I might pull things together. I didn't get the help, and, so far as I could see, there was only one course to take. I took it."

THE HERALD AS USUAL

The editor of the Calgary Herald is ever anxious for an excuse to vent his personal spleen against Hon. W. T. Finlay, Minister of Agriculture, and when no occasion offers for the Herald's convenience is not beyond the editor to manufacture one.

In a recent issue of the Herald an editorial appears charging the Minister with representing the Claresholm district to have only 6,000 acres under crop and publishes an alleged dispatch from Claresholm to that effect. The editorial referring to the crop bulletin ends as follows:—In the Claresholm district it was miles wide of the mark, for it credited the entire district with only 6,000 acres, whereas the despatch states that there are 40,000 acres cultivated in the immediate neighbourhood of the town.

"In the face of such extraordinary blundering, the public may well be excused for wondering what excuse the Hon. Mr. Finlay had to offer for being Minister of Agriculture and what was his department is to do this country."

This would be good campaign material if it was only true, but unfortunately for the author, it has not even the resemblance of truth. As a matter of fact the crop bulletin No. 3 issued on August 25th of this year gives Claresholm district (district No. 2) an acreage in crop of 53,314 acres or nine times as much as the Herald says it did. There is no excuse for such deliberate misrepresentation and it is only evidence that the Herald's greatest delight is to accuse its opponents in the hope that persons unacquainted with the paper's record will believe the story.

This is no ordinary blunder. The Herald has been harping about the crop bulletins for some time and was evidently studying them and knew the facts. Then in its own euphonious language, "in the face of such extraordinary blundering, the public may well be excused for wondering what excuse" this newspaper has for its repeated falsehoods and misrepresentations.

THE PLANS SHOULD CONFORM

In both the first and the second estimates presented to the council there appears to be a lack of uniformity between the paving and street car propositions so far as these relate to Jasper avenue.

Int he original estimates it was proposed to pave Jasper from Namayo to Tenth street and run a double track from Kinsling to Fourth street, while in the revised estimates it was proposed to pave Jasper from Namayo to Ninth street and lay double track from Namayo to Fourth street.

Under the former plan the double track would have extended eastward a block beyond the pavement walls to the street, and the pavement would have been carried six blocks beyond the double track. In the second plan it was proposed to begin the pavement and the double track at the same point to the east but to run the double track only to fourth while the pavement was continued to Ninth.

The paving and street car propositions are considered conjunctive and the purpose of constructing them simultaneously would be to secure economy. To lay a permanent car line without paving would mean that when this was considered necessary the line must be torn up; while to pave before building the car line would mean that a large part of the pavement must some day be torn up to put down the tracks.

It appears to us that under either of the estimates as they stand this purpose would not be fully gained. Under the first plan we should be laying a double track where there was no pavement and at the other end of the system would be laying only a single track where we were laying the pavement. Both the difficulties in question are within the business section of the city and may reasonably be supposed to require both double track and paving almost if not quite as soon as the other sections of Jasper. Had this plan been accepted we should probably have found ourselves in the near future tearing up the car tracks between Namayo and Kinsling to lay pavement, or tearing up the pavement between Fourth and Tenth to lay double tracks, or perhaps both.

The revised plans do away with the former, but not the latter danger and were they accepted the city might at no distant date find it necessary to tear up a strip of the paving from Fourth to Ninth streets to extend the double track. Should the negotiations for a union station fail and the C.P.R. terminals be located at Ninth street this undesirable possibility would become a practical certainty.

The course of safety would appear to be to pave wherever double tracks are laid and so far as the present calculations indicate to double track Jasper as far as the pavement were carried. The expense involved in constructing the tracks should be made complementary so far as they relate to those sections of the city likely to require both double track and paving within any reasonable time.

Oxford Hot Water Boiler

The diameter of the fire-pot is greater at the top than at the bottom, preventing accumulation of ashes around the most active part of the boiler.

The triangular revolving grate is hollow, allowing intense air space without permitting live coals to drop through. Dead ashes, clinkers, etc., are sharply cut off by a turn of the grate. The whole contents of the grate are dumped by a few extra turns.

We would like to tell you more about the Oxford Hot Water Boiler. Will you write for our book? It's free.

A Range That Burns All the Coal

MOST likely you have been throwing away good coal every day without knowing it. Coal that is only partially burned in the fire-box.

Because, with the ordinary range draft, the air current only strikes part of the fire.

Usually the damper door on such a range is situated at one end of the fire-box, which makes your fire hot at the draft end and cold at the other end.

Or the damper is perhaps on the left side of the stove, which makes an uneven fire for the same reason.

You are not only losing fuel, but your cooking and baking is unsatisfactory, for you cannot get a uniform heat.

Now, the draft in a Monarch Range is entirely different.

Instead of one damper door, there are two, one in each end of the fire-box.

These form a double or Duplex Draft, and both are regulated by the same handle.

So you get two direct currents of air at the same time, and your fire burns smoothly and evenly.

Bradstreet's report says: Warm weather hitherto-checking the Canadian distributive trade has given place to more seasonable temperature and this, coupled with a heavy movement of high grade wheat to market, large exports, great activity in railway building and heavy demands from American manufacturing lines, make for good business in nearly all lines of trade. Montreal jobbers report better re-orders and good spring business. Fur prices tend to advance and all textiles tend upward. At Toronto the outlook was never better. Crop yields have been good with the high grade, and a heavy trade is doing.

In Manitoba and the North-West money is circulating freely as the result of heavy wheat movement. A shortage of cars for general merchandise is reported and as the result of heavy hauling of grain. Activity in lumber, fruit and mining industries make for high wages and good collections. Failures for the week number eighteen as against twenty-three last week and thirty-one in this week a year ago. In the United States cold weather has greatly stimulated many lines of retail trade, especially heavy-weight clothing, shoes and rubber footwear, and induced some re-order business with jobbers who are still busy on regular trade.

The coal trade also shows improvement and some advance in prices, but car congestion, especially in the west, is a bar to fullest capacity. That the early advent of snow and frost has done some damage is evident in reports of damage to fruit orchards, vines and tobacco plants at the west, and rumors of vast damage to cotton at the south.

The railways seem to keep finding increased difficulty in handling the traffic offering.

The price situation as a whole is one of great strength, October 1 prices being a record level. For the week the lectures in speculative circles have been the slowness of dealings in grain and small net changes in price and the contrary advice as to frost damage. The strength of the metal markets deserves mention. Copper has reached the highest price in sixteen years and iron and steel show increased strength.

Jobbing trade, though of a between-seasons character, is very large for the season. Especial activity is noted in wholesale circles in cotton fabrics, which tend upwards on stronger raw material prices. Another buying movement, the second within a few months, has occurred in the pig iron market, and prices have again advanced 50 cents a ton. It is understood that some moderate orders have been placed for English and Scotch irons.

Orders for structural material are of goodly proportions. Sheets and tin plates are in good demand and the tendency is to request premiums. Steel bars command a premium of $22.

Cold weather and reports of frost far south in the cotton belt were the moving features in a further excited advance in cotton prices this week. As anticipated, October business in shoes is better than the rather disappointing trade done in September.

The wool markets are still practically deadlocked, with buyers and sellers apart, and whatever advantage there is, is apparently in buyer's favor.

Business failures for the week in the United States, ending Oct. 11, number 1922 as against 136 last week, 183 in the like week of 1905, 196 in 1904, 203 in 1903 and 203 in 1902.

Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending Oct. 11, aggregated 3,257,886 bushels, against 2,774,402 this week last year.

WESTMINSTER CHOIR.

A large and fashionable audience came out last night to hear the Westminster Abbey choir. The program consisted of vocal waltzes, glees, duets, solo ballads and musical sketches, and every number was received with hearty appreciation. The Westminster Abbey glee party sustained their reputation as exponents of old English part-music, which were rendered without accompaniment. The nursery rhymes of the boy sopranos created unstinted enthusiasm, the climax of which was reached when Master Albert Hale, a lad of nine years, finished that fine old English song, "Love Was once a Little Boy." His voice is pure, clear and remarkably musical and soft in the high notes. As an encore he gave "Cherry Ripe," with fine finish and enunciation. Madame Hooten, the lady vocalist of the party, has a splendid contralto voice, which apparently would be more at home in oratorio or opera than in Scottish ballad or old English song. The five gentlemen who compose the glee club sing with fervor and earnestness, and the same time with harmony and correct phrasing. The repertoire of the evening was a wholesome change from the ordinary songs that are heard in our music halls.

HAROLD JARVIS.

The program provided by the public school teachers for the Edmonton people tomorrow evening is a most generous and attractive one and is wholly in keeping with the interests which the teachers have in charge.

It is only necessary to mention will do it again. No male singer will do it again. No male singer who has ever visited Edmonton is so rich and strong and satisfying in performance. His encores are always gracefully and freely given and are of the good old sort, full of stirring patriotism, like "The March of the Cameron Men," or of mellow sentiment such as "Sweet Afton."

Wallace Graham is not an elocutionist of the ranting, roaring sort. His work is measured but strong and full of individual character and highly finished.

The best local talent in the city will contribute as well. Misses Crawford and Kemp will play two piano duets. Miss Crawford herself will play the accompaniments. Harper's orchestra, which, by the way, is a very bright organization, will discourse between eight and half past and also during the intermission.

The teachers are sparing no expense or trouble to make the event worthy of the most liberal patronage.

MAJOR MOODIE REPORTS
Ottawa, Oct. 22.—Major Moodie's mounted police expedition to Hudson's Bay points, concerning the safety of which considerable anxiety was felt, has at last been heard from. Sergeant Damery of the expedition, has reached this city, having been invalided home. He came on the steamer Adventure which was specially chartered to take in coal and general supplies for the new police posts on Hudson's Bay. The steamer left Sydney on August 3, having on board 1,000 tons of coal, and 600 tons of general cargo. She then proceeded to Cape Burwell encountering heavy pack ice on the voyage and rough weather. She remained there until August 31, and during that period it rained almost continually. A large quantity of supplies and three police were landed at Cape Burwell. The weather almost immediately took a change, it becoming intensely cold and the ground became covered with about six inches of snow. The Adventure left for the outside on October 1.

JAPS ARE WROTH.
New York, Oct. 22.—The Tokio correspondent of the Sun, cables that it would be difficult to over-estimate the gravity of the situation, caused by the anti-Japanese feeling that has been voiced in the United States. During his nineteen years' residence in Japan, the correspondent has never seen the Japanese so agitated before against the Americans. At a dinner Saturday, attended by 150 prominent bankers and business men at the Imperial Hotel, the feeling was expressed that America should regard with indifference the acts that are tantamount to a declaration of racial war. Little was said regarding the American protest against Japan's program in Manchuria, the killing of Japanese sailors, the murder of a Japanese bank president in San Francisco, the Hawaiian exclusion policy, the public attacks upon Professor Omeri, and Congressman Kahn's scheme, all of which incidents have occurred within three months, but the exclusion of Japanese children from the public schools of California, cuts the Japanese, a child loving nation, to the quick.

SEMI-READY WARDROBE—

Semi-ready dress clothes are the highest expression of art in tailoring
THE best tailor in town makes only 3 or 4 dress suits in a year. They are novelties with him, and their style and making are pretty much an experiment. That is why so many gentlemen look like waiters when they put on dress clothes.
The design of the Semi-ready dress suit is the work of a sartorial artist of the highest rank. The suits are tailored by men who do nothing else—they are specialists in the tailoring of dress clothes.

Semi-ready dress clothes are made of light-weight unfinished worsteds. The coat is delicately designed, as the parts are smaller than in any other style. The balance and lines are such as to show the figure at its best. The shoulders are broad yet natural form.
The Semi-ready dress suit is made with a longer lapel, rolling to within two and a half inches of the waist, with considerable curve on the crease, and a softened point at bottom of lapel instead of the usual harsh point.
On account of the carefully designed lines, the coat adheres closely to the figure, the skirt is more shapely and sets smoothly over the hips.
The skirts are longer, tapering towards the bottom with slightly rounded corners. The illustration shows these ideas.
If you wear a dress suit at all, it should be correct in style and tailoring. We would like to show you how emphatic the Semi-ready dress suit and tuxedo are. Will you call in?

NATIONHOOD

Former Attorney General of Nova Scotia Writes of Canada's Development.

Under this heading Hon. J. W. Longley, of Nova Scotia, contributes the following article to the London Weekly "Canada":

"It is not going very far to say that the creation of the Dominion of Canada in 1867 was one of the most important historical events of the nineteenth century. It was not indeed, that the Union added to the area, population and resources of the four provinces that originally constituted it, but it created a federal government which could regard the interests of the whole, and look abroad over the continent for further extensions. Any province would find it difficult to acquire new territory, but a federal government could acquire unlimited areas, and provide for their government under a system already formed.

"But a still greater historical event occurred within three years of the forming of the Dominion of Canada—the acquisition of the vast territories of the North-West, then under the control of the Hudson's Bay Company, and in a very short time, if not now, the historian must mention this as the most far-reaching and pregnant incident which happened in the nineteenth century. It overshadows, at this moment the Confederation Act of 1867, except that the one made possible the other. The acquisition of vast areas under favorable and proud auspices in 1867, but it is no disparagement to the four provinces—important, prosperous and growing provinces, which constituted the original Dominion, to say that it would have taken them a long time to have grown into a power—a nation taking its place among the great powers of the world. Let us look at them in point of area they comprise the following:

Province	Square Miles.
Nova Scotia	21,461
New Brunswick	21,422
Ontario	101,169
Quebec	134,741
Total	358,793

Their total population at Confederation was a little over three millions. By the census of 1871 the population was 3,486,761.

This area is larger than that possessed by many of the great nations of Europe, and allowing for all reasonable growth, it would have taken the four provinces, with Prince Edward Island, with its 7,000 square miles and its 100,000 people, a long time to have assumed national proportions and given promise of a great place in the family of nations.

"With Winnipeg a city of 100,000, and Vancouver, V. J. City, Edmonton, Regina, Prince Albert, Brandon and scores of other towns in the territory running into the category of cities, there can be no doubt as to what the acquisition of the north-west meant to this Dominion. With an area of over 3,000,000 square miles, covered, or rapidly being covered, with great railway lines, and the whole area being exploited, Canada already with a population of over 3,000,000, and with increasing promise of more rapidly than the pace of any nation of which we have record, Canada today bears close resemblance to a nation, and only it is not a nation more are required to complete the recognition of her position in every part of the civilized world. In the past, it is true, which the rest of the world witnesses, the great progress is being made in the north-west. Ontario will grow, Quebec will grow, and the Maritime Provinces will grow, and Toronto will add to their population as for thirty years past they have done. But when we come to survey the situation three decades hence, it will be found that the centre of population has shifted considerably to the West—that Saskatchewan and Alberta have immensely increased the number of their representatives in the House of Commons, and that cities will be flourishing on the prairie which may, and probably will, surpass in size and importance the cities of the East. And then, looking beyond another thirty years, who will venture to put in concrete form the possibilities of the west as a factor in the political power and industrial development of Canada?

"In this outlook there is no occasion for discouragement or dismay to the patriotic citizens of the eastern provinces—the thousands of the Dominion in the immense incalculable or weak and power which this Dominion will derive from the growth of the West, they will have a share of the prestige that our greater importance ensures. Canada is ours—all of it—and every Canadian may count as his own the glory which the progress of any and all parts secure. Each section has its part to play, and since the resources of the east are as varied and as great as the west, it will share in the progress, and while, for a time, losing relatively, it will gain actually.

"Nor, indeed, is there any magic in the immediate, greater growth of the Northwest. Note the vast distance in area. When Saskatchewan and Alberta have simply a population as great per square mile as Nova Scotia, their population will represent many millions. It is simply area, asserting itself. Canada is now tenfold greater than its original area. Is it reasonable to suppose that this vast increase must be to maintain the proportion which existed in 1867? Inevitably the nine-tenths will grow much more rapidly than the original one-tenth, but the splendid expansion of the greater is, and always must be, the heritage of the smaller, whose energies and foresight made these achievements possible.

"The great business of the future will be to transport the products of this immense West to Great Britain and other countries. It is no dream to speak of Canada supplying the British Islands with wheat. It can be done, and in a few years enough will be grown to do it. But it baffles the imagination to conceive what this means in the way of transportation. The North-West wheat crop this year will be about 50,000,000 bushels, and this overtaxes the aggregate railway facilities of the west already very considerable. What will be the requirements in this regard when the crop is three hundred million, as soon it will be?

"The East has an interest in this problem. As the resources of the East were liberally bestowed in acquiring and developing this West in the very infancy of Confederation, it is not too much to ask that the whole resources of the country should be devoted to securing for our eastern ports the handling of this immense volume of transportation.

"In short, Canada is now a potential nation. That this enlarging and stimulating prospect has come so soon is due absolutely to the bold step of acquiring the North-West in 1867-70, which, let it be repeated, may be justly regarded as the greatest single event of the nineteenth century."

A 65

Friday the 19th saw the completion of the annual prize competition of the above associations. The meet was in every way a decided success. The first day (Thanksgiving day) was an ideal one from the marksmen's point of view, but Friday (second day) did not come up to the expectations. The shooting was excellent throughout, a feature of the matches being the very gratifying scoring of the younger members generally, and the keen rivalry of the veterans. It is very pleasing to note the interest manifested in the matches this year, and the marked improvement.

The Edmonton Association captured the majority of the prizes, whilst Strathcona succeeded in carrying away the premier prize. The matches were characterized not only by the keenest kind of rivalry, but also by that feeling of comradeship so essential to success.

The following is the list of prize winners in the several matches:—

Crossed Two Seams

Horne & Osborn coal miners, who are sinking a shaft alongside the Canadian Northern track where it crosses Rat Creek have cut two seams of coal, the first one four feet at 196 feet and the second at four and one half at 220 feet. They are now drifting to the north and south on the upper seam, working three shifts a day.

The Horne & Osborn shaft has every indication of being a big producer this winter. The proprietors have placed a hoisting plant in position capable of hauling 300 tons a day. They are building a galloways frame and shaft to dump right into the cars. A sidetrack has been graded to the mouth of the shaft and the steel is now being laid.

The shaft is double compartment with a ventilating compartment. Only one cage is working so far, the other merely awaits the arrival of some large shavers from Toronto for use at the head of the frame. As it is they are getting out a few tons of coal daily, but only from development. They are building boarding houses to accommodate 100 men and by Christmas they hope to have 60 men working and turning out 100 tons of coal a day. The coal is of excellent quality.

SHORT NOTES

There will be a general meeting of the cricket club in H. B. Boyes office at 8.30 o'clock this evening.

A full attendance is requested at the meeting of the Intermediate hockey team this evening in the Mason & Rich Piano rooms on 2nd street. The purpose of the meeting is reorganization.
